AMENDED LIQUOR BILL TODAY TO FACE TURBULENT HOUSE

McClure Measure to Come Up Under Special Order At 3 P. M.

TAKE TEST VOTE

Senate Proposes to Hold Session On Friday For Action

By G. Everett Doying
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Amended "satisfactorily" after a withering five-hour attack, the McClure liquor control bill, bulwark of the administration's liquor legislation, faced a turbulent House today on final passage as a special order of business at 3 p. m.

A "test vote" during yesterday's hectic session when the House, sitting as a committee of the whole, tore the bill to shreds and then rebuilt it along the lines agreed upon by a three to one vote indicated victory by tonight.

Accompanying the vital control bill on the firing line will be the administration's bill for a $2 per proof gallon tax on liquor made before repeal on final passage in the Senate.

The Senate proposes to hold a Friday session in the hope of pushing the bill through the legislature finally this week.

The issue in the control fight is sharply and distinctly defined—it is bottled liquor to be sold through Gov. Gifford Pinchot's state stores or by private package retailers, and it is on this front that today's battle will be re-enacted.

Reps. Clinton A. Sowers, Philadelphia, and Joseph G. Steedle, Allegheny, teamed up as leaders of the "cities bloc" waging war on the state stores plan, brought the issue to a head in their attempt to put their package stores and district control plan into the bill.

Adoption of the compromise amendments agreed upon by Governor Pinchot and Republican organization leaders was the issue upon which the test came, with Sowers insisting that a vote for the amendments was a vote for the state stores.

Beaten, Sowers prepared to make a last ditch fight again today by moving his amendments from the floor.

The accepted amendments, offered by the author of the bill, modified its provisions to permit hotels and restaurants to retail liquor from 7 a. m. until 2 a. m., eliminate sacramental wines from its scope, cut the requirements for hotels and restaurants to 10 bedrooms and 50 patrons respectively and set up other minor changes.

A bill was introduced by Senator Harry B. Scott, Center, under the compromise agreement, setting up a three-member liquor control board to regulate the liquor business in place of the alcohol permit board and Rep. James H. McClure, in urging adoption of his amendments, announced the Governor would name his choices for membership on the board before the control bill came up for final passage.

Members would be appointed for six years at a salary of $10,000 annually, with one term expiring every two years. The Governor would make the appointment, subject to confirmation by a two-thirds vote of all members of the Senate.

Fire Destroys Barn About 3 Miles From Doylestown

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 22.—Fire of undetermined origin yesterday afternoon destroyed a barn owned by George Billie, on the Landsville Road near Dyerstown, about three miles from here.

The barn, a small structure, was unoccupied and located on the former Bouymeister farm. The dwelling house on the same farm was on fire about two years ago.

Doylestown Fire Company responded to the call but the structure was beyond saving when the company arrived. A double corn crib was saved by the firemen, however.

The fire was reported to County Fire Marshal William L. Stackhouse, at Hulmeville.

EASTERN "PEN" ARMED CAMP TODAY AFTER RIOT

State Troopers and Police, Heavily Armed, Reinforce Guards TO PUNISH GUILTY ONES

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Augmenting the regular force of guards, State Police, armed with tear gas bombs and sawed-off shotguns, transformed the Eastern Penitentiary into an armed camp today after the 1300 convicts staged the most destructive riot in the hundred-year-old history of the institution.

Clubs and torches in the hands of a band of 75 desperate long termers made a shambles out of the dye shop and weaving room and damaged the kitchen and chaplain's quarters. Loss was estimated at about $20,000.

For more than two hours yesterday afternoon, the band of 75 prisoners defied the efforts of guards and almost 200 city policemen to drive them into their cells. Several shots were fired but no one was reported wounded.

The ringleaders were placed in an unused cell block under heavy guard last night and deprived of their dinners. Warden Herbert J. (Hard Boiled) Smith said they will ultimately be punished further.

Dr. Lewis Newton Robinson, a penologist, who was appointed to the board of prison trustees by Gov. Gifford Pinchot yesterday to replace Henry N. Woolman, the chairman, was inside the walls a few minutes after the rioting began. Woolman was removed when he refused to resign after the Governor blamed him for conditions at the penitentiary.

Warden Smith said the cause of the riot, the second in the past 72 hours and the fourth major outbreak in six weeks, was a mystery to him.

Breaking into the weaving shop a few minutes after the 1300 prisoners were let out into the recreation yard yesterday afternoon, the 75 ringleaders suddenly drew improvised iron and wooden clubs from beneath their prison blouses and began smashing the delicate weaving machinery.

While about 100 visitors at the institution were quickly removed, the guards succeeded in driving all but the 75 back to their cells. This band of long termers broke into the dye shop and set it afire.

City motorcycle police by the score rode into the prison yard, armed themselves with pump guns, and finally quelled the outbreak. All prisoners were searched but Warden Smith said no guns were found. An assortment of crudely fashioned knives were found scattered over the recreation yard, however, he reported.

School's Relation To The Community Is Considered

A meeting of the lower Bucks county committee on Public Relations, which is dealing with the question of relation of the public school to the community, occurred Monday at Maple Shade school house. M. P. Hammond, South Langhorne, is chairman.

This session was presided over by C. H. Boehm, Morrisville, assistant superintendent of Bucks county schools. The object of the committee is to further the interest of the public in the schools, and to develop lines of conduct for the students in relation to the school, home, and to each other. The matter of responsibility on the part of the pupils, and respect for property is also being considered. Final reports will be made by this committee at the principals' meeting in January.

POTATOES WILL BE DONATED FOR NEEDY BY THE WASHINGTON STREET SCHOOL PUPILS AT SEASON OF THANKSGIVING; BASKETS ARE TO BE FILLED

Several Containers Will Be Filled As in Years Past

TWO NEW STUDENTS

Projects in Four Rooms Are Suggestive of Thanksgiving Season

Scores of mothers are being reminded daily by their children who attend Washington street school of the potato they wish to take to school just prior to Thanksgiving holidays. The potatoes donated annually by these pupils fill several baskets, and needy families are helped. The boys and girls are already thinking and talking of the baskets they will fill this year, which will help people who do not have much of this world's goods.

Two new students entered Washington street school Monday. These are William and Howard Johnson who moved to this borough from South Langhorne. The two boys are in the fourth grade, being taught by principal Miss Jane Entz.

There are nine boys who are members of Washington street school safety patrol. These boys, who daily see that traffic is clear before permitting their co-students to cross the streets, are: Captain, Edward Moffo; lieutenant, Francis DeRisi; Anthony Palumbo, Arthur Massi, Marvin Argus, Anthony Chellela, Kenneth Lewis, Kenneth Herrmann, Salvatore Sagolla.

Projects in the four rooms, which house the four lower grades at this building, are suggestive of the Thanksgiving season, with Pilgrims and Indians brought to the fore. The four teachers, Miss Rogers, Miss Grace Shaver, Miss Irene Paulus, Miss Clara Lerman, are carrying out these projects in grades four, three, two and one respectively.

In Miss Lerman's room the tots have helped to build an Indian canoe of orange crates covered with heavy brown paper.

The students of Miss Paulus will within a few days make a Pilgrim frieze on paper.

The story, "Little Indians," is being read to her pupils by Miss Shaver, and this group is also busily engaged in making Indians of paper.

IN PHILA. HOSPITAL

Miss Mary Caputa, Market street, who is a patient in the Medical College Hospital, Philadelphia, was operated upon yesterday.

MORRISVILLE PASSES SUNDAY SPORTS LAW

Ordinance Approved On First Reading by Borough Council

DISCUSS FEE QUESTION TO NAME COMMITTEE

MORRISVILLE, Nov. 22.—It will only be a matter of weeks before Sunday sports are legal in Morrisville.

Empowered to act by the vote of the electorate at the recent election, the Borough Council last night passed on first reading an ordinance designed to legalize sports on the Sabbath.

As drafted the ordinance provides for the payment of a $5 license fee annually by clubs or leagues planning to compete within the borough on Sundays. This angle, however, caused some discussion at last night's session, and a change may be made before the ordinance is finally adopted. The fee would have to be paid by amateur and professional teams alike.

Badly in need of cash, the council voted not to accept bonds from the Home Loan Corporation for back taxes on properties on which the corporation has taken over the mortgage. The council expressed the opinion that the corporation would be willing to pay cash.

The council also voted to accept the civil works program and instructed the clerk to apply to the Government for 65 per cent of the cost after the proposed improvements were decided upon.

The council voted to pay John N. Lee $1,000 for damages to his property as the result of taking land for the extension of the industrial railroad tracks on South Delmor avenue.

It was announced that the public hearing on the proposed zoning ordinance will be held on December 5.

RETAIL MERCHANTS FORM ORGANIZATION

Arthur P. Brady is Named as President and Guy Drumm as Secretary

TO NAME COMMITTEE

Local retail merchants officially organized a permanent association and unanimously elected Arthur P. Brady, well known and popular retired grocer, as president at a meeting held last night in the Moose home.

Mr. Brady in accepting the chairmanship said that "an organization of this character, that includes the entire community, can do many things to help the merchant in his every-day business; also to create a closer bond of good-fellowship and understanding between them."

"I, as president, will do everything possible to make this association one to be remembered for the benefits derived. We can look back, many of us, to some previous organizations that were formed by business men in the community and benefit by the mistakes made by them."

"The good that can be accomplished by such an organization as has been formed here tonight is endless, and with the co-operation of every member we can make this association a success," concluded Mr. Brady.

Guy R. Drumm, a man who has had wide experience in business organizations of this kind, was elected secretary. After a general business discussion the chairman was authorized to appoint an advisory committee of seven members, representative of every business.

At the conclusion of the meeting it was decided to hold the next meeting in the same hall next Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock, at which time a speaker from out-of-town will address the gathering and refreshments will be served.

SETTLE TO GO TO AKRON

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—Refreshed after a night's sleep at the home of his mother, Lt. Commander Thomas G. W. Settle, prepared to depart for Akron, Ohio, where he is to report his stratosphere experiences and those of Major Chester L. Fordney of the U. S. Marines, to the makers of the huge bag which he brought down in a New Jersey bog after reaching a height of eleven miles, but short of the world record.

Instruments carried by Settle and Fordney are to be delivered to the Bureau of Standards where the barograph will be checked to learn the exact height of the flight.

Settle arrived in the capital late yesterday in a coast guard plane.

Both aeronauts, Settle said, were so engrossed with the experiences of their flight that they didn't eat the food they carried and finally were forced to throw it overboard with their ballast in order to effect a landing. The landing, Settle proudly revealed, was made without injury to the delicate instruments carried aboard.

"When the sun went down Monday evening," he explained, "the gas in our bag contracted so fast that we were forced to throw out even the radio set with which we had been communicating with the earth."

STORM THREATENS LINDBERGH'S

Regardless of whether the couple journey from here, whether across the Atlantic to the United States or eastward back to Europe, they will meet better weather than is promised for the next few days. The couple continued silent on their plans after leaving here.

SPEAKS INSPIRINGLY ON "BEING A GOOD SCOUT"

Rev. Leslie Kiefer Addresses Southern Division At Court of Honor

BADGES ARE RECEIVED

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Nov. 22.—Before a packed congregation assembled in Cornwells Methodist Church to participate in the Southern Division Court of Honor of the Bucks County Boy Scout Council, the Rev. L. H. Kiefer gave an inspiring address on "Being A Good Scout." With interesting illustrations, Rev. Kiefer gave his listeners a picture of what living up to the Scout oath and law should mean to every Scout and Scoutmaster.

The Court of Honor was to recognize worthy Scouts who had made achievement during the past five months in the lower part of Bucks County. The Bucks County Council is conducting the courts of honor in churches to make all of the membership realize the true significance of the twelfth Scout law, "A Scout is Reverent." Other courts have been conducted at Perkasie and Trexore.

President Thomas Ross, of Doylestown, presented camp leadership certificates to assistant Scoutmaster Burdette C. Tomlinson, of Morrisville No. 1; chairman of troop committee, William Amick, of Cornwells; assistant scoutmaster John W. Ferguson, Andalusia, and Scoutmaster Harold D. R. Crumrine, Langhorne. President Ross paid a glowing tribute to the exceptional work being done by the hundreds of Scout volunteers throughout the county. He stated that it was a delight for the council to provide training courses to assist the men in furthering their work with their troops.

In his opinion, communities should recognize the work being done by the Boy Scout program for their boyhood. An occupied boy is seldom in mischief, and Scouting makes a strong effort to appeal to the boy during his leisure hours.

County Boy Scout commissioner William Burgess, of Morrisville, presented the five year Veteran and Eagle Palm to Eagle Scout Thomas Purcell, of Morrisville.

"HOW TO GET MARRIED" TO BE STAGED DEC. 12TH

The Little Theatre Group Will Produce Play Written By Dudley Bell

AUTHOR GIVES VIEWS

The first presentation of the Little Theatre Group which has been organized by Dudley Bell will be made on Tuesday night, December 12th, at the Italian Mutual Aid Hall. The group has been rehearsing a two-act play written by Mr. Bell for a selected cast which includes Mrs. Theodore H. Megargee, Mrs. Parke Wetherill, Eleanor Keating, Marie Quaresmini, Dennis Roche, William Gallagher, Robert Morris, and the author. The play has been named "How To Get Married," and this title tells the story of what the audience may expect to see.

The cast was selected before the play was written. This procedure gave Mr. Bell a distinct advantage. It enabled him to characterize with the assurance that the cast would not encounter limitations. It also prevented the possible mis-casting of any actor, and in addition the writing of the play was greatly facilitated. The usual pitfall of "type" characterization in which the actor is confined to a type part has been somewhat eliminated. Whereas each character in the play is sort of an odd person, there is not the usual villain or gossip servant of many standard plays. The characters are built up in action and speech as very modern people. The dialogue is short and for the same reason, the cast has encountered certain difficulties which are somewhat unusual. The part played by Mr. Gallagher is particularly dangerous from the standpoint of over-acting. It requires a certain restraint with which both the actor and the author are continuously trying to cope. The results so far are gratifying, and each member of the cast is progressing as well as could be expected.

Upon being interviewed, Mr. Bell said, "The purpose of our Little Theatre Group is three-fold. First, to train amateur actors and actresses into professional artists; second, to develop the art of stage production; and third, to discover and develop unknown playwrights. In the town of Bristol, there seems to be a great number of amateur players who possess unusual ability. There is a spirit of improvisation and a love of theatre among these people which I have never seen elsewhere. The difficulty with a play production is the selection of the cast because there are so many able amateur artists that the choice compels an elimination of splendid talent.

"In the play 'How To Get Married,' I interviewed the players whose stage work has been very successful, and before writing this play, I discussed the story and the characterizations with them. I received a most gratifying response from all of them. The highest compliment to my writing is the cast which seems willing to work and struggle with the deficiencies of my play. In my opinion, there never was a greater opportunity for a playwright than to see a production of his work by such able artists. This same opportunity is open to everybody, and I sincerely hope that I may receive written manuscripts from unknown writers."

WILL DISCUSS CIVIL WORKS PROGRAM AT MEETING TONIGHT

Borough Officials in Bucks County to Assemble Here

TO EXPLAIN THE PLAN

John S. Roberts, Jr., To Be In Charge in Bucks County

The first allotment of $3,150,000 for local relief work under the new civil works program, $26,000 of which is for Bucks county, has been announced by the Federal Civil Works Administrator of Bucks county, John S. Roberts, Jr., of Bristol.

Mr. Roberts, who is chairman of the Bucks County Board of Commissioners, has invited all burgesses, councilmen and township authorities interested in the civil works program to a meeting in Bristol tonight at 8 o'clock in the municipal building, when Mr. Roberts will explain the proposition.

The $26,000 that is now available in Bucks county is but a small portion of what the county will receive by February 15, 1934, when all work must be completed. Pennsylvania's share of the Federal civil work money will be $36,000,000 to $35,000,000, and of that total, $3,150,000 is available right now.

No application for civil projects has as yet been made by any Bucks county borough or township but forms and applications will be available at the meeting tonight in Bristol. County Administrator Roberts stated today that he hopes that applications will be filed with him quickly so that the projects can be acted upon.

The $26,000 ready for Bucks county, it is expected, will last until December 2, when another appropriation will be made.

No private projects will be considered, Mr. Roberts pointed out today. Men employed on the civic improvements will be paid 50 cents an hour for common labor and the prevailing rates in the community where the project is under way for skilled labor.

The State Department of Highways and the State Department of Forests and Waters have certain projects that come under the civil works program, and in Bucks county, this work comes under the same appropriation—the first $26,000 allotment.

People employed must be drawn from the relief rolls of Bucks county and it is necessary under the original allotment that the applicants must have been registered prior to November 16, this year. That is the policy that will be carried out for the present, but after certain of the projects are completed, at a later date, it is stated that work will be given those who have registered after November 16.

There are approximately 1500 cases on relief in Bucks county, of which there are probably 1200 individuals, of which 900 are in the lower-end section of Bucks county. For that reason the lower-end section will get most of the civil relief work money, for it is necessary according to the provisions of the law that preference shall be given the district where there are the greatest number of unemployed. If certain sections of Bucks county cannot establish projects that are worthwhile, those on relief in those communities, as a last resort, can be transported to another section of Bucks county where there may be an approved project that requires more men.

All projects must be on public property. Jobs to be given out must be useful work, not "made work," such as shoveling stones or chinders back and forth just to make work. The projects must be approved by County Administrator Roberts who in turn submits them to the State Administrator.

In Harrisburg, Monday, the various county administrators were emphatically informed that every bit of the administration work in the distribution of Pennsylvania's $35,000,000 must be "kept out of politics."

The Federal employment bureau in Bucks county, located in Doylestown, will give out the jobs upon requisition from County Administrator Roberts, who will receive his information from the various forms and applications filed by each community. If a workman is not satisfactory, he can be relieved and another secured from the bureau to replace him.

"The civil works program is primarily a labor proposition," County Administrator Roberts declared. So far as material being furnished in the communities where the projects will be approved, the money to purchase material must be paid by the borough or the township unless the district has borrowed up to or near its limit. Where communities are financially embarrassed, it is possible to have the project passed so that the material and labor will both be paid for out of the civil works relief fund.

In Doylestown there were 18 men on relief eligible for jobs under the first allotment of money. In case this community cannot at this time pre-

SIT AND DRINK

Is drinking liquor while standing more harmful to the body or morals than drinking while sitting?

This is a question which is figuring prominently in connection with liquor-control regulations being framed in preparation for the legal return of liquor on December 6.

The New York state alcoholic beverage control board has taken its stand—maybe we should say position—with the sitters.

Under the regulations it has announced for governing the sale of liquor in New York, drinking at bars will be prohibited. "Saloons and speakeasies are ostracized under the plan," says a news item describing the latter, "which permits service of drinks only at tables in bona fide restaurants, legitimate hotels, clubs, railroad cars and ships."

Will it bar saloons and speakeasies? There is no assurance that it will. A strong probability is not lacking that it may even encourage the operation of speakeasies—a place where a man may rest his elbow on a bar and his foot on a brass rail while he hurriedly or leisurely satisfies his thirst for a drink. There are many men who do not relish their drinks as much sitting as standing. And if the demand for a bar is strong enough there will be one—in a speakeasy.

The question of control is one that will encounter numerous difficulties at the outset. It will not be easy to decide upon the best methods, so many factors are involved. Experiments will have to be made until a satisfactory plan is found. Whether a drinker should sit or stand is only one of numerous questions that will have to be decided.

A LEGISLATIVE EXPERIMENT

A legislative experiment that has some apparent practical advantages is being tried in Kansas.

Its purpose is to make possible more prompt and efficient the work of legislative bodies and, thus, cut down the length of sessions, with a consequent saving to the taxpayers.

Under the plan, the legislature on assembling will find much of its work already done by a permanent legislative council created by legislative act. The duties of the council consists of considering, between sessions, local situations needing legislative attention, conducting hearings and drafting bills for their solution.

Should the idea prove successful, much valuable time will be saved the legislature for considering more important matters. It is a common failing of legislatures that they devote too much time to local matters, having no state-wide importance.

Whether the plan is practical remains to be demonstrated. It is at least of sufficient promise to bear watching.

Not everything began in the Garden. There's the borrowing habit.

After all, the best explanation of modern youngsters is their youth.

Colonel Lindbergh was stunting in the air while Mrs. Lindbergh was doing some Paris shopping. Many another wife has sent her husband up in the air by similar activities.

If his buying keeps up, Uncle Sam soon should have enough gold to pay the Nez Perce Indians the wagonload of yellow metal they say he promised them in 1855.

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD.—If you can believe Al Jolson, even columnists are backward compared to a reporter who approached him in New York.

"Mr. Jolson," said the news-bureau, "I understand your wife is having a baby."

"Why, no," said Al, "that isn't so."

The reporter stuck out his chin, snapped: "Yeah? Don't tell me!"

Smiling denials by Isabel Jewell fail to check the reports that she and Lee Tracy are plotting an early marriage. The gossips want to know, for instance, why the blonde actress is planning to catch the first airplane for Mexico City as soon as she finishes in "The Comeback" at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

She and Tracy did each other a lovers' farewell when he left with the "Viva Villa" company and Lee has been keeping the telegraph wires hot ever since.

Unless she has to stay for added scenes, Isabel will complete her film in a few days. The next you hear of her she will be with Tracy, who is on location in a 250-year-old hacienda about 25 miles from the Mexican capital.

Is this a laugh? Most of the newspapers and the picture services in town got a tip yesterday morning that Sandra Shaw and Gary Cooper had been married in Las Vegas and were aboard a Western air express plane due to arrive at the United Airport.

Everybody rushed out, so that when the plane landed, 20 cameramen, including two still-men from the Paramount studio, were gathered in a semi-circle.

And into this reception descended Mr. and Mrs. Bell, of Shingle Springs, California, a couple wedded 12 years.

Mr. Bell is a copper-mining engineer and a radio-operator mistook it that Cooper was on the plane.

Hard to believe that the lovely Alice Joyce has a daughter old enough to go into pictures. Yet the first debutante to be signed by Jesse L. Lasky for his picture, "Coming Out Party," is Alice Moore, daughter of Alice and of Tom Moore. The young lady will donate her entire salary to charity.

Several days ago, Gail Patrick made a sensation when she donned a red bobbed wig to play a part in "Death Takes a Holiday." So loud were the praises that the one-time stately Gail has bobbed her own long dark hair and has had it curled at the ends to give an effect very similar to the wig.

QUICK GLIMPSES

The real lad with the girls is Dick Powell. The papers printed about his birthday this week and he got 14 proposals of marriage in the mail.

Ben Lyon has decided not to rib Bebe Daniels any more. As a gag, he piled the sink full of dirty dishes for her return from New York.

Bebe took one look, dismissed the maid and made Ber wash them. . . . The auto-salesmen are all coming away from Stepin Fetchit with long faces this trip. The lazy colored boy isn't buying a thing. . . . Desert Innners report that Constance Bennett's adopted son, Peter, goes horseback-riding every morning in overalls. . . . Connie and Gilbert Roland have been playing much tennis at Palm Springs. . . . Sister Joan, on the other hand, has been among the film crowd at La Quinta. . . . Johnny Weissmuller planes it to Lupe over the week-end. . . . The film crowd are planning a big welcome for Ted Fio-Rito at the Coconut Grove on Tuesday night. . . . Ted's stay here will be for four or five weeks. And there's a hot rumor that Guy Lombardo will be following him into the Grove around Christmas time.

DID YOU KNOW—

That Sylvia Sidney got her first work on Broadway not because of her acting ability but because she was discovered to have a blood-curdling scream?

Johnny Weissmuller

The 10:13 and the 4:25

THE 10:13 is distinctly feminine. Cars full of well-dressed, vivacious ladies. There is quiet but eager talk of babies and bridge—of parties and servants. But, more particularly of shirts and shoes, of rompers and rugs. . . . Above all, of prices and values.

But watch the 4:25, when the ladies are home-ward bound. Some are worn and weary—and quiet. Others are still vivacious and gay.

Had you trailed the tired ladies, as they were shopping, you doubtless would have seen them wandering from store to store, from counter to counter, asking, searching, pricing—hour after hour.

Had you followed the ladies who again are talking babies and bridge, dinners and parties—you would have seen them consulting lists—going directly to this store, to that department, to this counter, readily finding just what they wanted at the price they intended to pay.

Before leaving home they read the advertisements in their newspapers, made notes, clipped certain ads, laid plans.

To save time and money and effort, shop at home first in the pages of this newspaper.

REMATCH WRESTLERS FOR BOUT AT TRENTON ARENA

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 29.—With last Friday's fracas still a matter of excited comment by the wild-eyed wrestling enthusiasts who witnessed the Ernie Dusek-Al Giecwicz duel, Johnny Ipp took immediate steps to rematch the men for the windup Friday at the Arena.

It was the most grueling encounter ever fought at the Stockton Street battleground and Ipp cancelled the proposed Ed (Strangler) Lewis-George Manich bout to stage a return between the two wildcats.

Ernie was willing to face Al again and all that he demanded was that the management protect him with sufficient police protection. Al was also willing to meet Ernie as he thinks that he was deprived of victory by Referee Gus Waldron's handling of the match. However, the few unbiased experts and sports writers hold that Gus was eminently fair in his decisions.

Ernie won the first fall after 40 minutes and 50 seconds of torrid grappling, more by trickery than wrestling skill. He was taking the worst of the mauling and was sprawled on his back, his legs outside the ring, when he reached around and tapped Al on the shoulder and the ex-Ipp thinking that it was Waldron's signal that he won the fall, released his hold and climbed up. Ernie immediately went into a series of shoulder slams and body charges and had Al ripe for the cleaners.

Giecwicz took the second fall after 16 minutes of even more vicious grappling that took place in the first fall. Al got Ernie all tangled up in the ropes and it took the combined efforts of Waldron and several ringsiders to release him from strangling.

Special police were necessary to restrain excited spectators from doing bodily harm to Dusek, who displayed all the villainy for which he is famous. The 90-minute time limit was up before there was a decisive decision for the third and last fall.

Supporting bouts bring together George Manich and Tiny Roebuck, Bert Ruby and Stanley Pinto, Count Zartoff and Nick Nestor, while in the opener, Bruno Gorrasini tackles Sid Nabors.

FURMAN'S LOSE

The Furman A. C. journeyed to Cedar Hill Sunday and accepted a defeat. The game was more or less one-sided, the Furman club making at least four first downs to the victor's one, but failed to score, playing with one of the lightest lines since the start of the season. The Furman A. C. literally pushed the opposing team all over the field, the victors making their score on a blocked kick on the 15 yard stripe by Gallagher, the quarter for Cedar Hill. Great spirit was shown by the local boys and should be quite an obstacle for Morrisville on Thanksgiving.

Country Appears Headed For A Real Money Battle

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22—The country appeared headed today for an old-fashioned battle over the money question, with the so-called sound money people and the inflationists choosing up sides and going to it.

The resignation of Professor O. M. W. Sprague as financial advisor to the treasury and his tart criticism of the Roosevelt monetary policy ascertained a situation which has been boiling for weeks.

"I have now reached the conclusion," said Professor Sprague in his letter to the President, "that there is no defense from a drift into unrestrained inflation other than an aroused and organized public opinion. It is for the purpose of contributing as I may to such a movement that with a feeling of profound disappointment, I sever my connection with your administration."

This was considered the equivalent to an open declaration of war. Those who oppose the Roosevelt gold purchasing experiment now propose to organize and arouse public opinion against it. For his own part, Professor Sprague plans to conduct a written and spoken campaign of opposition.

That he is assured of considerable support already is evident. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce only last Saturday published a resolution urging the President to return to the gold standard and abandon his present experimenting with the value of the dollar.

That the administration is tightening its lines for the forthcoming battle also is evident. The Treasury has been thoroughly shaken up under the new acting secretary, H. Morgenthau, Jr., and that other changes are on the way. Those out of sympathy with the gold policy, like Dean Acheson and Professor Sprague have been retired. New men have been appointed to key positions in the Treasury—men who are in sympathy with the President's program and most significant of all, a rigid censorship has been clamped down under which officials, other than Morgenthau himself, are forbidden to talk to newspaper men.

When informed of Sprague's resignation, Morgenthau's only comment was ironic. "The sun will rise and set tomorrow and the birds will sing just the same."

Move 50,000 Cases of Gin To Escape $2 Gallon Tax

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Apparently to escape the $2 a gallon floor tax on liquor to be enacted by the Legislature today, the Continental Distilling Company early today moved 50,000 cases of its newly manufactured gin across the Delaware river to Camden, N. J.

The company then closed down its plant in protest to the tax, after Simon Neuman, the president, issued a statement branding the impost "confiscatory." In addition to the gin sent to Camden from where it will be shipped to Peoria, Ill., where the company intends to establish its plant, 50 carloads

man, J. Dedrick, A. Marshall, and D. Price, Cornwells; and Henry Miller, South Langhorne. First class badges were awarded by deputy commissioner David Neill, of Bristol, to: Elvin Cooney, and Lamar DeSau, Yardley; William Henderson, Cornwells; and Frank Martin, George Ogden, Joseph Young, Flushing. A considerable number of merit badges were presented by merit badge commissioner Warren Snyder, Bristol, to: Albert Profy, Bristol No. 1; Frank Fowler, Calvin Lenderman, Scoutmaster Wm. Schofield, assistant Scoutmaster Burtis C. Tomlinson, and Earl Wood, Morrisville No. 1; William Henderson, and Everett Johnson, Cornwells; William T. Hagar and Benjamin Stark, Langhorne; Paul E. Vandegrift, Bristol No. 2; Robert J. Nevins, Thomas Pursell, George Sines, Harold Washburn, Arthur White, and James Yeager, Morrisville No. 3.

Higher honor ranks for the evening were awarded for the Star Scout group by Walter Pitzonka, of Bristol, to: Frank C. Fowler, Morrisville No. 1; and William Henderson and Everett Johnson, Cornwells. In awarding the Life Scout Award to the Scoutmaster of Harold E. Washburn, Jr., who is ill in a hospital, State Senator Clarence Buckman, of Langhorne, urged Scoutmaster Howard Antrobus, of Morrisville No. 3, to convey to the Scout his best wishes for a speedy recovery, and to further urge the Scout to go further up the ladder of Scout achievement. Senator Buckman reminded the Scouts that as they sought further advancement in life that "they would never meet a sustaining unemployed by December friend." This seemed like strange advice but it was described by the speaker as being an expression of "your friends go with you," and if they are the right kind of friends you would never meet them going down.

Will Discuss Civil Works Program At Meeting Tonight

sent a project, it will be possible to transport those men to other sections of Bucks county where projects will be under way, if sufficient men cannot be secured in those sections.

The fund and labor allotments for counties nearby amount to as follows: Bucks, $26,145 for 1538 men; Chester, $34,965 for 2956; Delaware, $79,616 for 4684; Montgomery, $73,316 for 4312; Lehigh, $55,282; Northampton, $52,695.

As County Administrator Roberts explained it today, the program of the Civil Works Administration contemplates only necessary constructive work with a definite social and economic value. It is not a mere back-to-the-job movement, Governor Pinchot explained Monday in Harrisburg.

"This is a battle to restore the morale of thousands of our people, men, women and children who year after year have been compelled to accept food from the State to keep body and soul together," Governor Pinchot declared.

It is the plan in Pennsylvania to put 300,000 men to work, half of them from the relief lists and the other half composed of unemployed men who have not yet been on relief.

The general plan throughout the nation calls for the transfer of 2,000,000 men from work relief and relief rolls to full-wage work for thirty hours a week and the recruiting of 2,000,000 additional men from self that "they would never meet a sustaining unemployed by December 16th."

writers without delay. The next performance of the group will be in the Spring and we must have a few plays to consider. It is my intention to exclude all professional plays. We are only interested in amateur writers. If we are compelled to resort to professional plays, it will only be on account of insufficient material.

"The group of players in our Little Theatre must also be enlarged. The membership is going to be made up of people who want to develop themselves in histrionic work. The play of our first presentation on December 12th is an example of what we attempt to do. After this performance is given, we hope to find a response from those who feel interested in our work. We also anticipate the encouragement of an audience which will fill the theatre, and after witnessing several rehearsals, I feel safe in promising an entertaining evening."

NO MORE history, no more French, no more sitting on a hard-wood bench! Home they scamper from school, those young live-wires of yours—from a warm and healthful school! Will they come into an equally warm and healthful home? When you burn Koppers Coke, yes! This modern fuel, made especially for homes, keeps chills and chatters at a safe distance. Its cozy warmth surges through every cold room. How good it feels!

Koppers fires are easy to make, easier to care for. Through the morning (when you're cleaning), through the afternoon (when you're out driving), right up through homework to the children's good-night, a Koppers fire burns easily and evenly, without attention. Put it to bed, and it's a cheery red next morning! One-third the usual amount of ashes. One dollar saved out of every ten. One-half as heavy (less, maybe) as other fuels. And a Koppers fire always comes up quick as a wink! Is it surprising so many people are Koppers enthusiasts? Try a ton, and there's your answer! Made by Rainey-Wood Coke Company, Conshohocken, Pa.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF THE CHICAGO BEARS, PRO FOOTBALL CHAMPS, PLAYED A LEADING COLLEGE ELEVEN...??

AFTER a football player has finished his college gridiron career, there are usually three courses of action open to him. He can either try for a coaching job, or join the professional football ranks—or he can forget about football altogether, and go into some profession.

With professional football growing in popularity each passing year, more and more college football players are trying to make good in the pro ranks when their school careers are over.

The professional ranks number some thirty players a large number of the outstanding All-American college grid stars of the past decade. Among others, one might name Benny Friedman, Red Grange, Harry Newman, Ken Strong, Angel Brovelli, Bronko Nagurski, Mel Hein, "Father" Lumpkin, Herman Hickman, Lawrence Ely, Lew Hutchinson, Ernie Pinckert, Jim Musick, Red Cagle, Tony Holm and Shipwreck Kelly, all of whom, once famous as college stars, have made good in the pro ranks.

The reigning champions in the National pro football league are the Chicago Bears, headed by that perennial ghost of the gridiron, Red Grange, and that dynamic fullback who starred with Minnesota three years ago, Bronko Nagurski. A question that still rages among football fans is whether a "pro" team like the Bears could defeat a leading college eleven, if such a meeting could be arranged. Most critics seem to think that the pros would easily beat the best college team, but Howard Jones is one authority who disagrees with this view. Jones has repeatedly stated that he would back his championship Trojan team against any pro eleven in the land.
